ABOUT ME

I am a 21 year old software developer currently looking to further my knowledge and experience in the field. I am goal oriented with a strong work ethic, and a fast learner with a growth mindset. I am also very much willing to learn new languages and technologies in order to better fit a role.

I have been programming for as long as I can remember and over the last 4 years have signifigantly improved my abilities. I have both self-taught and institutional education in web and software development and deployment.
